Domestic Violence, Gangs and Parenting: A Dialogue about Learned Violence

A PROGRAM OF THE S. MARK TAPER FOUNDATION CHILD TRAUMA TRAINING ACADEMY and the VIOLENCE PREVENTION COALITION

Thursday, December 1, 2011

8:30 am (registration) – 4:30 pm

The California Endowment, Redwood Room

1000 North Alameda Street, Los Angeles, CA 90012

In this concluding segment, we will explore the systems response to issues of learned violence:

- Law enforcement response
- DCFS response
- Emerging policy practices and potential for implementation in domestic violence
- How systems work in the community to provide solutions
- Implementing Trauma Informed Systems collaboration between DMH and DCFS

Speakers include:

- Sgt. Curtis Woodle – Gang Department Liaison Supervisor, Detective Headquarters, LAPD, a member of the DV Task Force of Los Angeles and the Girls & Gangs Standards for Gender Responsive Protocols Task Force.
- Patti Culross, MD, MPH – Former Director, Injury & Violence Prevention Program, LA County Department of Public Health.
- Xiomara Flores-Holguin, MSW – Law Enforcement Liaison, DCFS. An Advisory Board member to the Better LA Project, Ms. Flores-Holguin helped develop and implement MART (Multi-Agency Response Team), child welfare and law enforcement agencies serving children at risk for violence via gang, narcotic or weapons activity.
- Adriana E. Molina, LMFT – Director of Project ERIN, Children's Institute, Inc., and member, Violence Prevention Coalition Steering Committee.

Who should attend: Mental health providers, social workers, DV advocates, gang intervention workers, case managers, educators, administrators from public and private agencies, law enforcement, and policymakers.
